Charles Curtis is a highly experienced practitioner in all aspects of injury claims, having practiced in this field, acting for Claimants, Defendants and Prosecuting Authorities for 25 years.

His practice as a busy junior includes:

- High value personal injury and fatal accident claims
- Clinical negligence claims
- Health and Safety prosecution and defence
- Representation at Inquests
- Insurance fraud – in particular organised motor insurance fraud.

Charles is regularly ranked as a leading Junior for both Personal Injury and Insurance Fraud.

Expertise

Personal Injury

Charles is ranked as a leading junior for Personal Injury. He specialises in high value injury claims, often involving complex medical disputes (including neurological, psychiatric, chronic pain). He has a particular interest in fatal accident claims and the assessment of quantum in contentious cases.

Charles acts for both insurance companies and for Claimants and receives a large proportion of his instructions from many of the leading personal injury firms, including Horwich Farrelly, DAC Beachcroft, Keoghs, Irwin Mitchell, Thompsons and Slater and Gordon.

Charles regularly advises in conference with liability and medical experts, to ensure that his client's case is, tactically, at its strongest. He represents clients in group actions and in individual claims arising from road traffic accidents, and as a result of employer's liability and industrial disease. He is involved in a number of foreign claims.

He is regularly instructed to attend JSMs and mediations, where claims are often successfully settled.

Charles is a co-author of Bingham's Personal Injury and Motor Claims cases.

Notable Personal Injury cases

Death of a holidaymaker from Legionnaires disease – liability and quantum.

Death of a successful investment banker in a light aircraft crash. Air accident experts and a substantial dispute on quantum.

Clinical Negligence

Charles acts principally for Claimants in clinical negligence claims. His cases regularly involve complex medical issues with disputes on breach of duty, causation and condition and prognosis. He is instructed in claims involving a failure to diagnose, incorrect diagnosis, a failure to treat and negligent treatment.

Charles is acting for over 400 military personnel Claimants in a high value group litigation claim, where the Claimants contend that they were negligently prescribed the anti-malarial medication Lariam, which they contend has caused long-term adverse neuropsychiatric consequences.

In addition, recent cases have included:

- Alleged negligent cancer surgery
- Alleged negligent treatment for renal failure
- Alleged negligent ophthalmological treatment
- Alleged negligent diabetes treatment leading to amputation
- Death due to pulmonary embolism
- Alleged failure properly to diagnose and treat a spinal injury leading to cauda equina syndrome.

Motor Insurance Fraud

Charles is regularly ranked as a leading Junior for insurance fraud. He has repeatedly acted for a number of large insurance companies in respect of claims where fraud and fundamental dishonesty are suspected and alleged. He has a particular interest in complex fraud ring cases and has represented many of the leading road traffic insurers at trial in such claims.

Charles led the way, on behalf of insurers, in seeking and obtaining awards of exemplary damages against fraudulent Claimants.

Notable Motor Insurance Fraud cases

5 linked Claimants all found to be fundamentally honest following a serious of deliberately induced road traffic accidents.

21 linked road traffic claims all found to be fraudulent.

Successful defence of a complex fraud ring involving 16 road traffic collisions and 73 claims.

Costs awarded against Claimant's solicitors, who had failed properly to investigate allegations of fraud.

Costs awarded against large credit hire company, where claim dismissed as fundamental dishonesty and a six figure sum for credit hire had been claimed.

Exemplary damages against Claimants found to have been brought dishonest claims.

Health & Safety

Charles represents both prosecuting local authorities and Defendant organisations in both the Crown Court and the Magistrates Court. He has considerable experience advising both large and small organisations on strategy, tactics and plea mitigation. He has been instructed to attend a large number of Inquests where Health & Safety prosecutions are likely to arise from fatalities.

Notable Health & Safety cases

An NHS Trust in respect of a number of hospital deaths.

A Local Authority in respect of the death of a child in care, killed by her parents.

A construction company in respect of the death of a worker on site, when the building collapsed.

The family of a young girl killed while on a school trip to Drayton Manor Theme Park.

The family of a worker killed on the Crossrail Project.

The family of a Romanian construction worker, killed when a lift fell to the bottom of the lift shaft.

Inquests

Charles has represented organisations and families at a large number of Inquests over many years. These have ranged from reasonably straight forward road traffic accident deaths to deaths caused by complex medical treatment and suspected murder.

Charles has, in appropriate circumstances, acted for families on a pro-bono basis at Inquests, and will continue to do so.

Notable Inquests cases

Death of a child on the Splash Canyon ride at Drayton Manor Theme Park, while on a school trip.

Death of patients in hospital due to possible waterborne bacterial infection.

Death of a child at the hands of her Father – issues as to the supervision provided by the local authority and a social work agency.

Death of a child who choked on a jelly cube while at a day Nursey.

Death of a worker on the Crossrail Project, when the tunnel ceiling collapsed.

Death of a construction worker when a lift fell down the lift shaft while he was strapped to the lift – unlawful killing.
