Rodney Dixon KC has a diverse practice in the UK and globally in international law, public law, inquiries, compliance and regulation, and human rights.

He appears on behalf of Governments, serving and former Heads of State, politicians, military commanders, individual complainants and defendants, international organisations, companies and businesses, NGOs, and victim groups. He specialises in public international law, international criminal law, and human rights and civil liberties before all international, regional and national courts.

Rodney's expertise lies in cases concerning foreign relations, inter-State disputes, the armed forces, international prosecutions and defence, public inquiries, civil claims with international components, mediation and arbitration, cross-border proceedings, asset recovery, extradition and mutual assistance. His work covers all international criminal courts; UN proceedings, claims, and special procedures; actions before the International Court of Justice (ICJ); cases at the European Court of Human Rights; applications before the African Commission and African Court on Human and Peoples' Rights; Privy Council cases; bilateral investment treaty matters; territorial and border disputes; public inquiries and investigations; World Bank Sanctions Board proceedings; land claims and reparations; corporate compliance and regulation; detentions abroad; Universal Jurisdiction cases in multiple countries; Interpol and international and European arrest warrants; and, private international law cases.

Expertise

International Law

Rodney Dixon KC is a leader in the field of PIL acting on behalf of Governments, companies and individual litigants. He regularly appears before international courts and bodies. He has represented several Governments in complex international proceedings including the Governments of the United Kingdom, Kenya, Afghanistan, Mauritius, Georgia, Ukraine, Rwanda, South Sudan, Egypt and the Comoros. He has advised on UN proceedings, border and territorial disputes, investment treaty matters, sanctions, national sovereignty and security interests, and reparation claims. Rodney has particular experience acting for Governments undertaking national investigations and restorative justice programs that comply with international standards. When, for example, Zimbabwe faced international calls for an investigation following post-election violence in 2018 Rodney was appointed by the President of Zimbabwe to serve on the national Commission of Inquiry into post-election violence that was chaired by the former President of South Africa. He is currently representing the East Turkestan Government in Exile regarding the allegations of genocide against the Uyghurs.

Rodney is one of a handful of lawyers who has both prosecuted and defended in international criminal courts. He has secured acquittals for clients in every international court. He regularly appears before the ICC and other international criminal courts (like the ICTY and ICTR) for individual defendants, States, and victims. These include acting as Defence Counsel for the Prime Minister of Kosovo; Abdullah Al-Senussi, former Libyan Head of Intelligence; a Bosnian Army commander for operations in central Bosnia; the investigator of Charles Taylor; and a prominent TV journalist in Lebanon; as well as Counsel for Gaza Flotilla representatives; and, interveners in the Sudan ICC Situation in the case concerning President Al Bashir. He has acted and advised before all hybrid courts including the Special Court for Sierra Leone, the Iraqi Special Tribunal, the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia, the Special Tribunal for Lebanon, the War Crimes Division of the High Court of Uganda, and most recently the Kosovo Specialist Chambers (KSC).

Rodney is the co-author of the leading textbook Archbold International on the law, procedure and practice of all international criminal courts, now in its 5th Edition (Sweet & Maxwell). It has been described by Justice Richard Goldstone, the former Chief Prosecutor of the ICTY and ICTR, as the book that “will always be open on the desks in offices” at the courts in The Hague.
